See the Ghost

Three Stories About Things You Cannot See

David LaRochelle

illustrated by Mike Wohnoutka

The Geisel Award–winning creators of See the Cat and See the Dog return for a comical new spoof on primers—and this time the cat, the dog, and the book are grappling with some curious things they can't see.

Use See the Ghost in your classroom to introduce sentence structure and parts of speech.

CANDLEWICK PRESS • TEACHER TIPS

See the Ghost

- Explain the different parts of speech (noun, verb, article, etc.). Use the story to demonstrate what each one is and how they work to form a sentence.
- Ask your students to brainstorm a list of other things, like ghosts, wind, and fairies, that you cannot see. Use your imagination!
- Have students write their own story using the sentence structure from the book. They can use the characters Max the dog and Baby Cakes the cat interacting with a new character you can't see.
- Use See the Ghost for a readers' theater script. Encourage your students to consider the punctuation and facial expressions when practicing how their voice should sound when reading aloud.
